

here, which is investigating the McNamara dynamiting cases with a view of returning indictments alleging violation of the federal laws regulating the transportation of explosives, did not meet today, a recess being taken until Monday.

It is reported that the jury will make a report Monday, but it is not considered probable that the report will contain anything relative to the dynamiting investigation. Several persons, who have been subpoenaed to testify in the dynamiting cases have not yet appeared.

Man Spirited Away by Burns

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 11.—Mystery was added today to the disappearance last Monday of Frank Eckhoff, 24, a core-maker, when his wife received special delivery letter from him dated at Pittsburgh, Pa.

Late Friday Eckhoff's wife and her mother appealed to Chief of Police Jackson, for information as to the missing man and were told, they declared today, that Eckhoff was on his way to Los Angeles, Cal.

The police say that Eckhoff, who was a boyhood companion of James and John McNamara, was taken away by operatives of the Burns detective agency who made the investigation that led to the arrest of the McNamaras.

Mrs. Eckhoff said a financial arrangement had been made whereby she was to call at police headquarters every week and get $15 while her husband was away.

"I'm not satisfied," she said. "The manner in which the detectives worked was just like kidnapping."

It is reported that instead of going to California, Eckhoff and the detectives are working within a radius of 500 miles of Cincinnati in the hope of uncovering nitro-glycerine plants. It is reported they found a can of the explosive at Beaver, Pa., several days ago.
